The Story of David and the Magic Coin

Once upon a time, there was a young boy named David who lived in a small village. David was a kind and compassionate boy, but he was also very poor. One day, David was playing in the forest when he came across a magic coin. The coin was made of gold and had a strange symbol engraved on it. David picked up the coin and examined it closely. He had never seen anything like it before.

David decided to take the coin home with him. He showed it to his mother, but she did not know what it was either. David decided to keep the coin, and he soon discovered that it was a magic coin. The coin granted David three wishes.

David was very excited about his new magic coin. He immediately wished for a new pair of shoes. His wish was instantly granted, and he was now wearing a brand new pair of shoes. David was so happy that he ran outside to show his friends his new shoes.

David's friends were very impressed with his new shoes. They asked him where he got them, and David told them about the magic coin. David's friends were amazed, and they all wanted to have a magic coin of their own.

David decided to use his second wish to help his friends. He wished for all of his friends to have a new pair of shoes. His wish was instantly granted, and all of his friends were now wearing brand new shoes. David's friends were so grateful to him, and they all thanked him for his kindness.

David's third wish was the most difficult. He thought about all of the people in the world who were suffering. He wished that everyone in the world could be happy and healthy. His wish was instantly granted, and everyone in the world was now happy and healthy.

David was very happy that he had used his three wishes to help others. He knew that he would never forget the magic coin, and he would always cherish the memories of his adventures with it.
